Roostoo User Manual

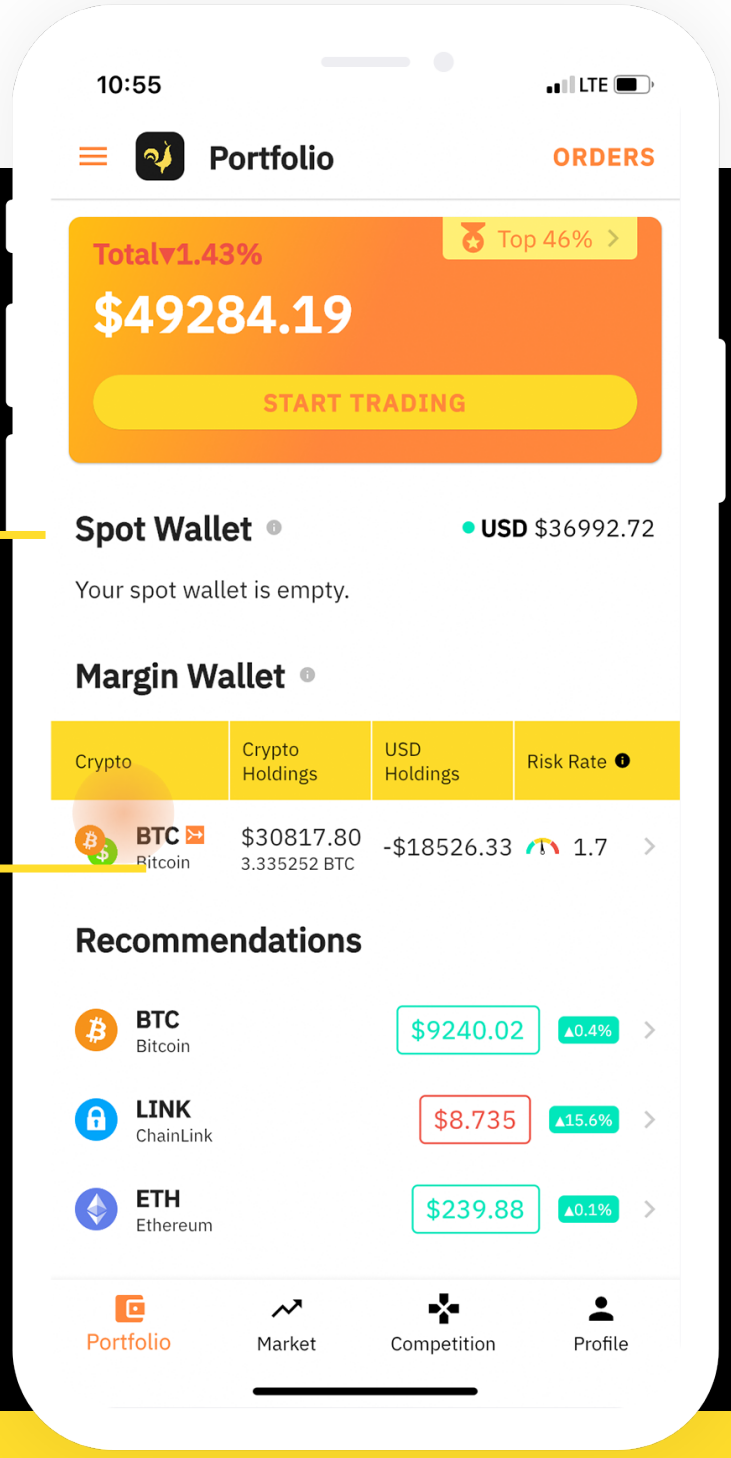
[Margin Trading]

World's first and best margin crypto trading simulator

Version: 1.1 · Last Updated: Jul 12, 2020

Portfolio – Margin

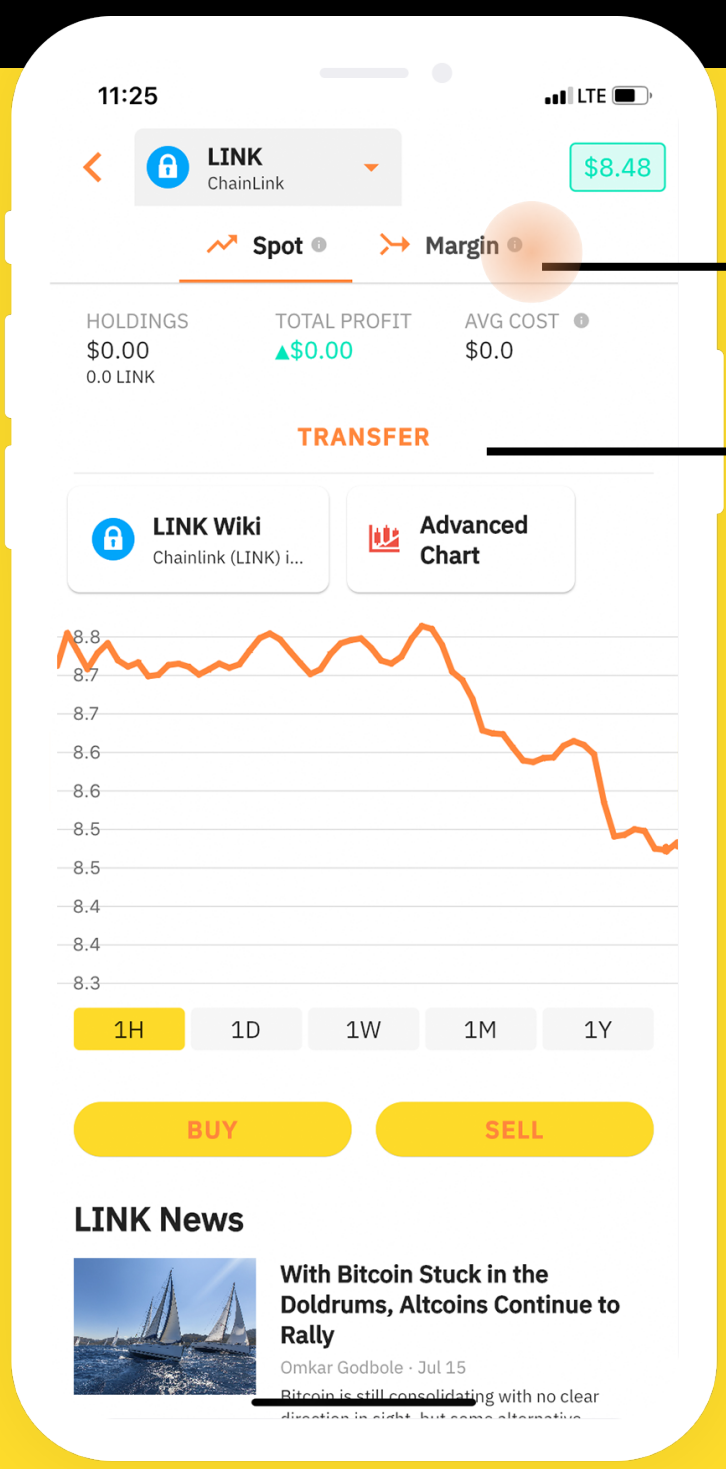
Home page displays your crypto portfolio in both wallets



Crypto in Spot Wallet

Crypto in Margin Wallet

- Separated funds in margin wallet from spot wallet
- Each crypto has its own isolated margin wallet



Switch between Spot and Margin Trading Portal

Transfer USD from your spot wallet to your margin wallet to begin margin trading

Transfer

Transfer funds from spot wallet to margin wallet to begin margin trading

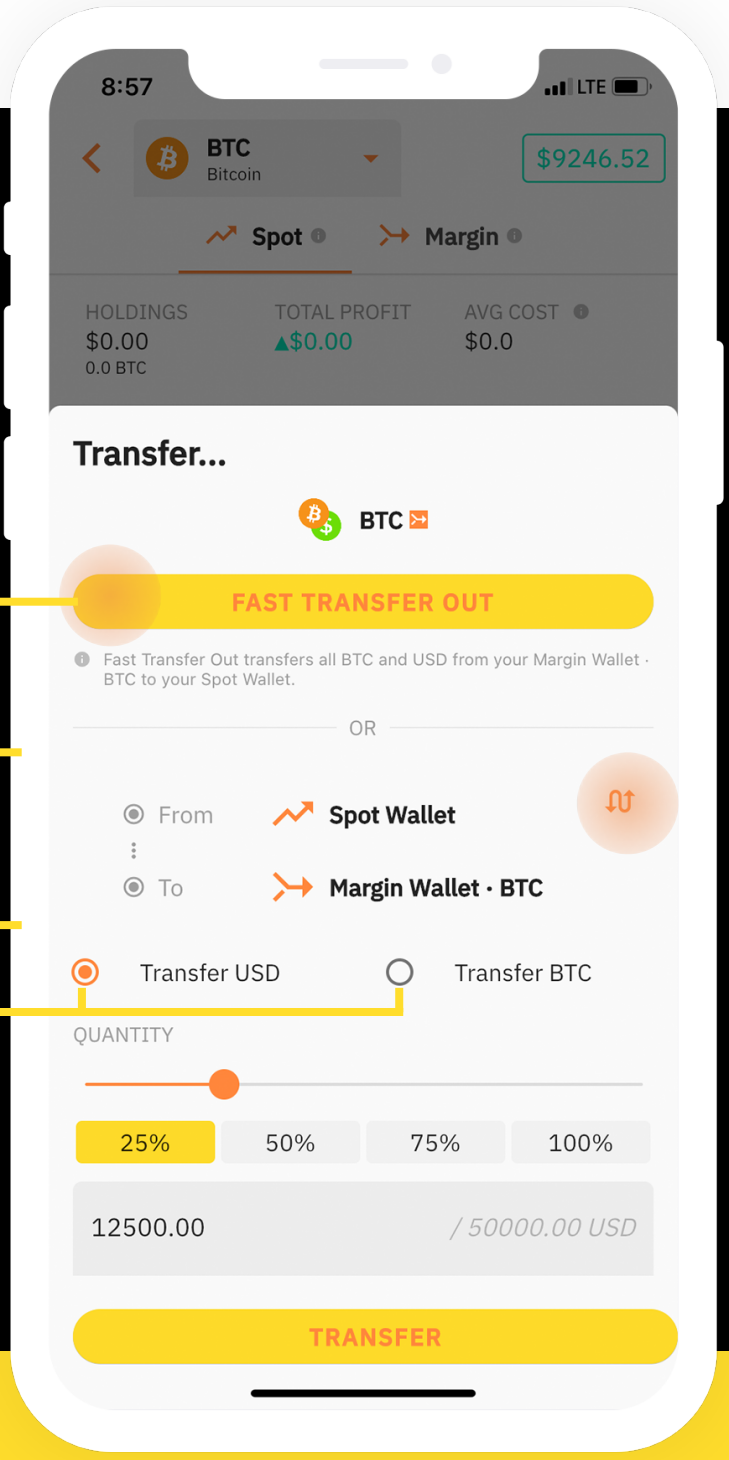
Fast Transfer Out:

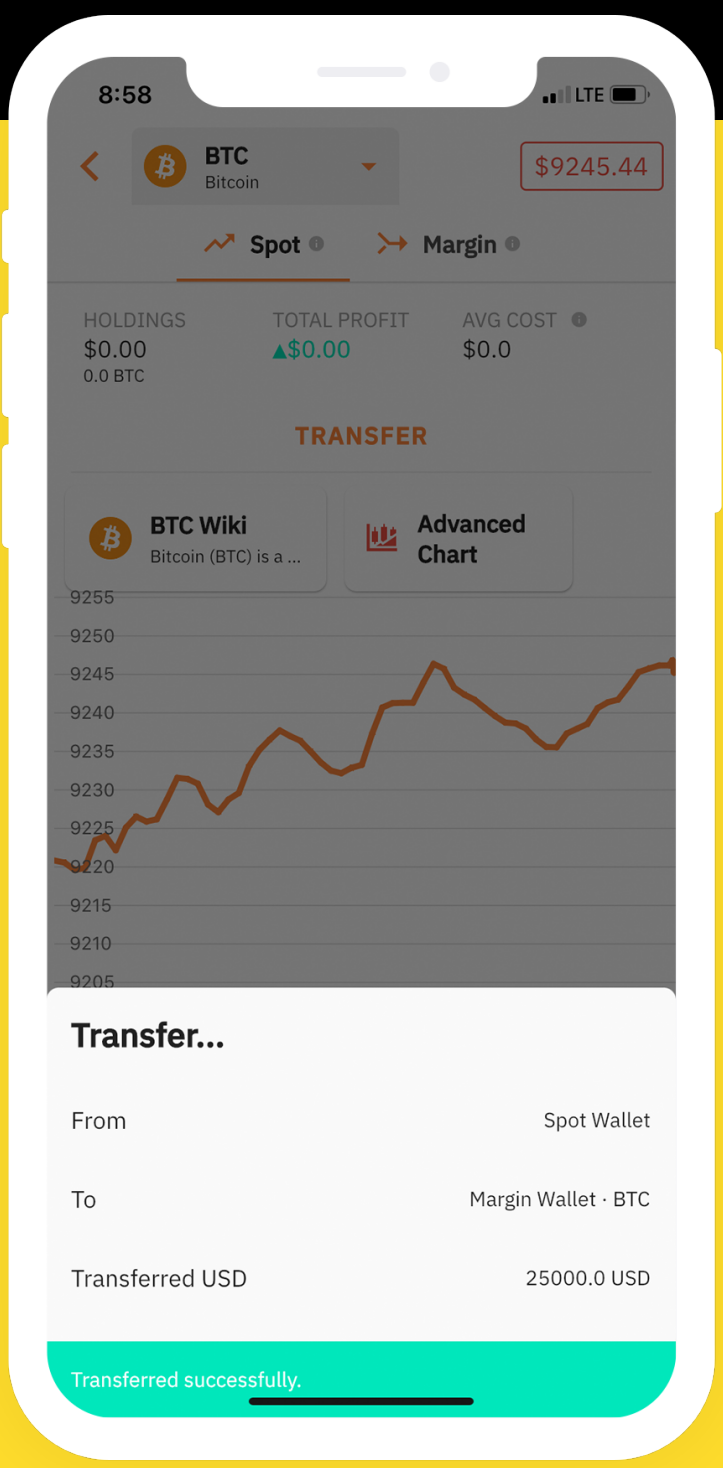
Transfer all funds from the margin wallet back to the spot wallet at one click

Transfer:

In-and-out transfer between the spot wallet and the margin wallet.

- Click to switch direction of transfer
- Click to select either USD or Crypto for transfer

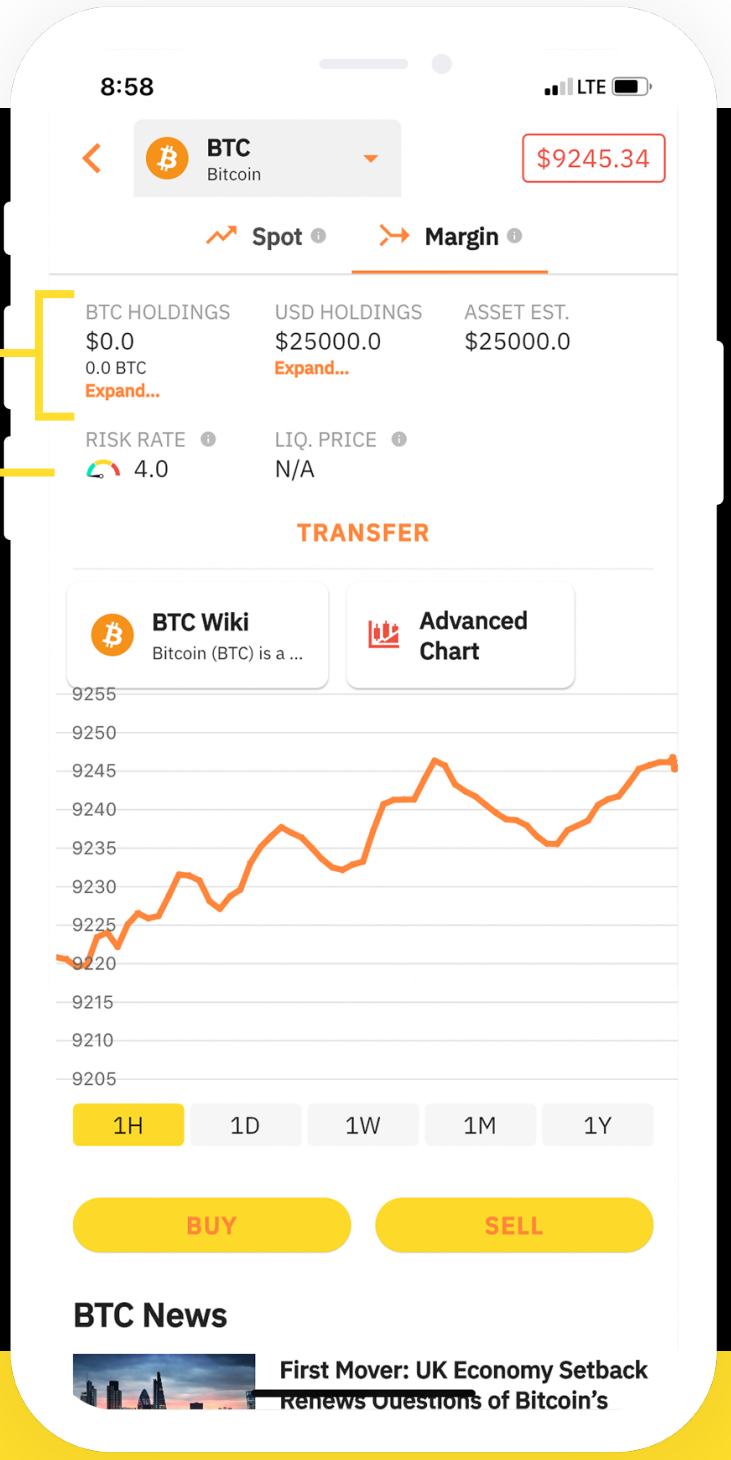




Confirmation for the amount of transfer

Metrics

Understand the metrics for margin trading to evaluate your performance

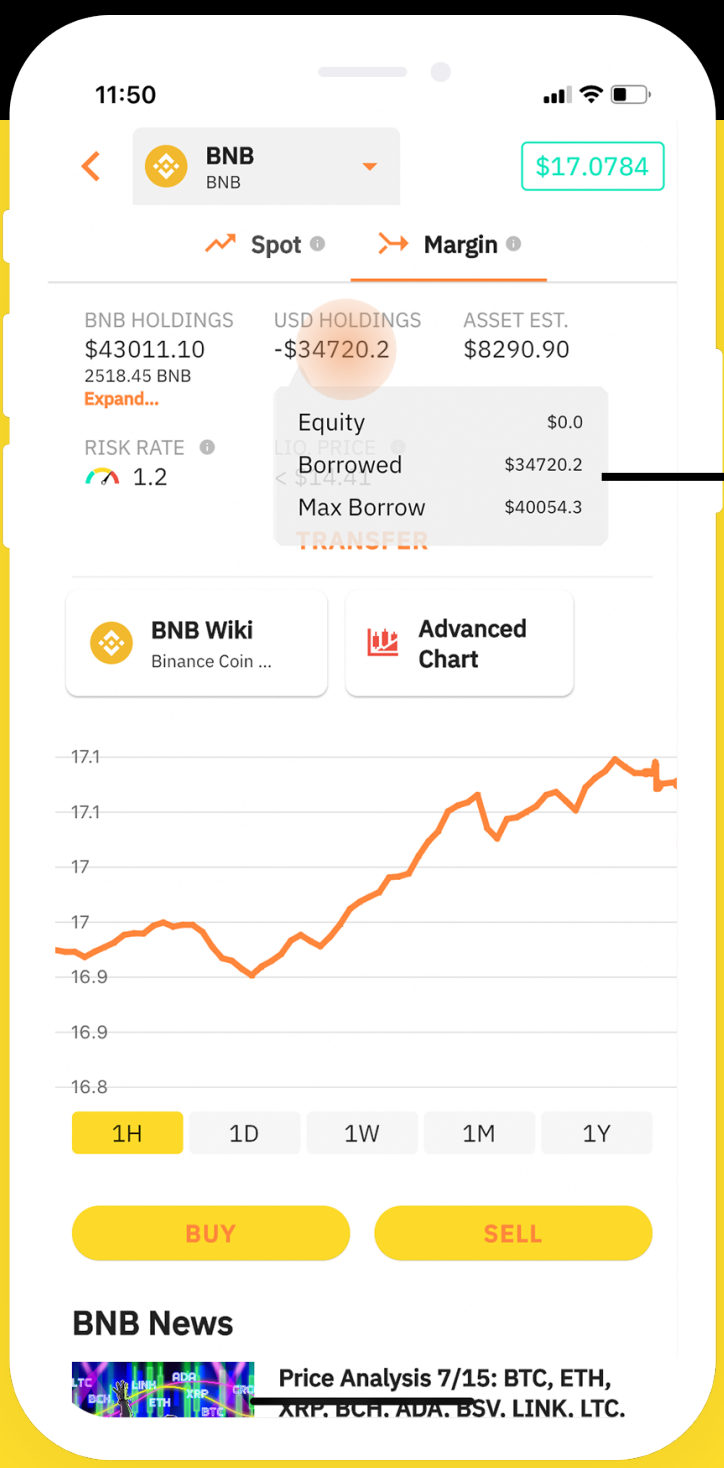


Margin Wallet Holdings

- Crypto Holdings
- USD Holdings
- Asset Est. = Crypto Holdings + USD Holdings. This is the overall value of funds within this margin wallet.

Margin Trading Risk

- Risk Rate: The lower the risk rate, the higher the risk of your trade position. Risk Rate = 1.05 will cause liquidation.
- Liquidation Price: The price in which the system automatically sells all your funds to repay the amount you borrowed for margin trading.



Click to view the details of your holdings

- Here, $34720.2 USD is borrowed to buy BNB. The maximum amount that can be additionally borrowed is $40054.3 USD.
- Negative USD holdings because USD is borrowed to trade in margin

Margin Trading

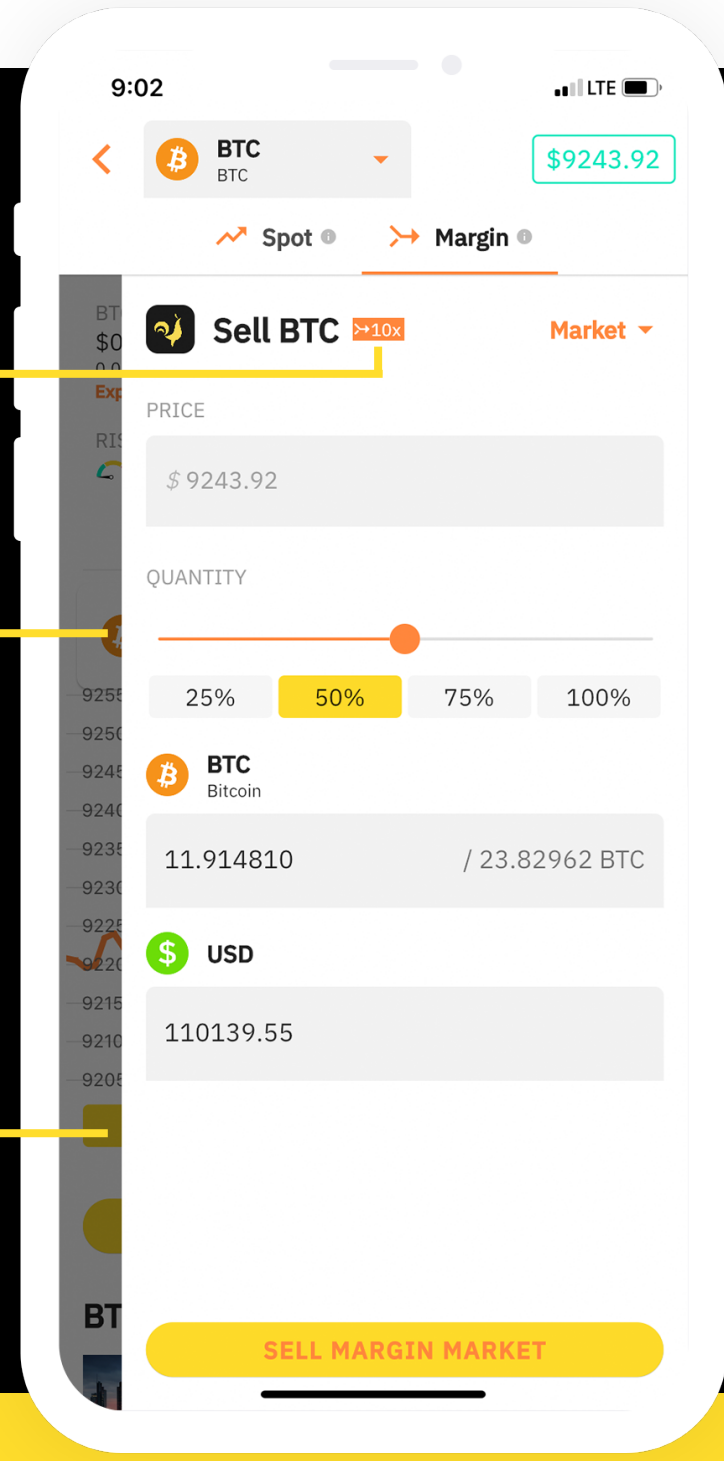
Margin Ratio:

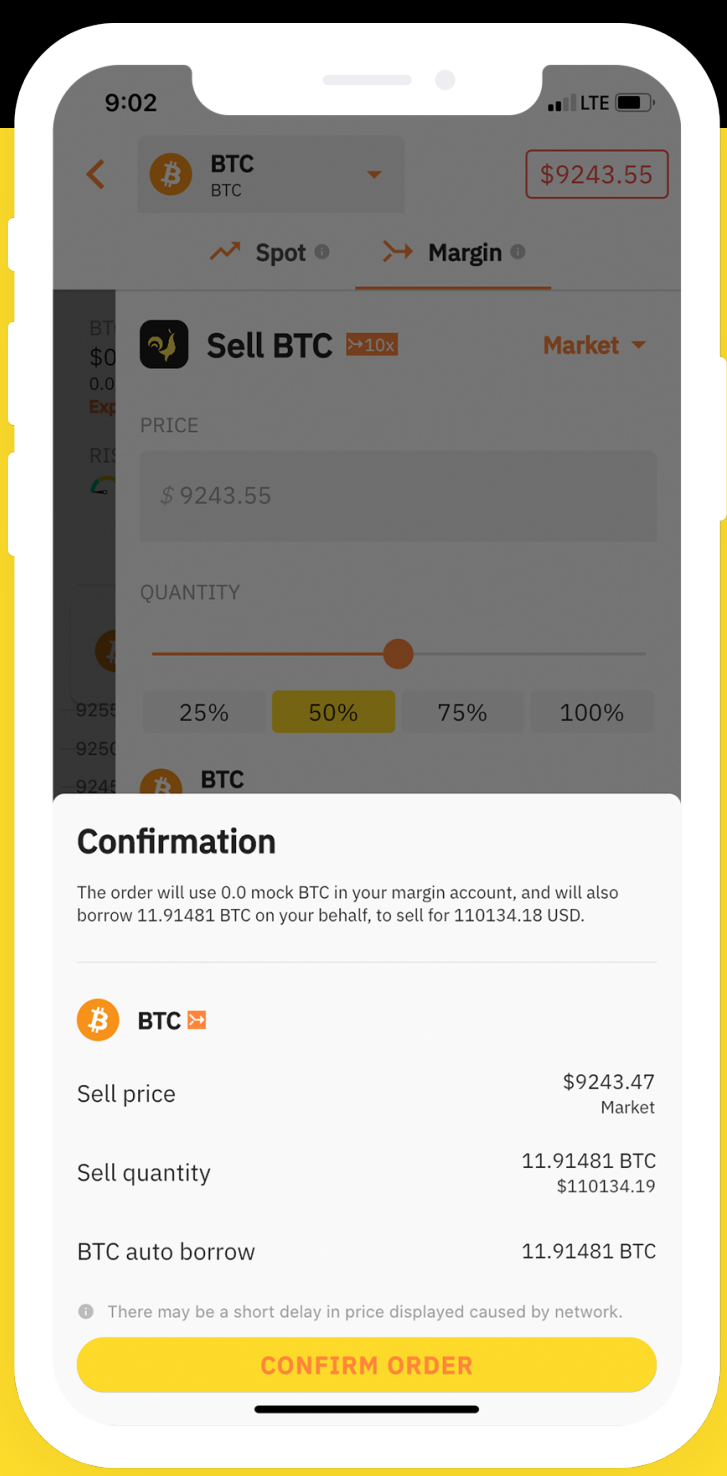
The ratio you can leverage up your trade. 10x means if you have $1000, the max. you can borrow is 10 times more.

Trade

Click and slide the quantity you want to trade. The amount available is expanded to allow you to increase the size of your trade.

To short sell, you simply click the “sell” button





Double check the details of your trade before you confirm the order.

The system also automatically borrows or repays to balance your position every time you trade in margin.